Young faces form new portfolio of leaders

The hope of any civilization lies in the coming generation—those people who will constructively revise and build upon that which is set down. We are the people who will make these changes in the coming few years. We see the privilege; we recognize the responsibility, and we are introducing our new ideas today.

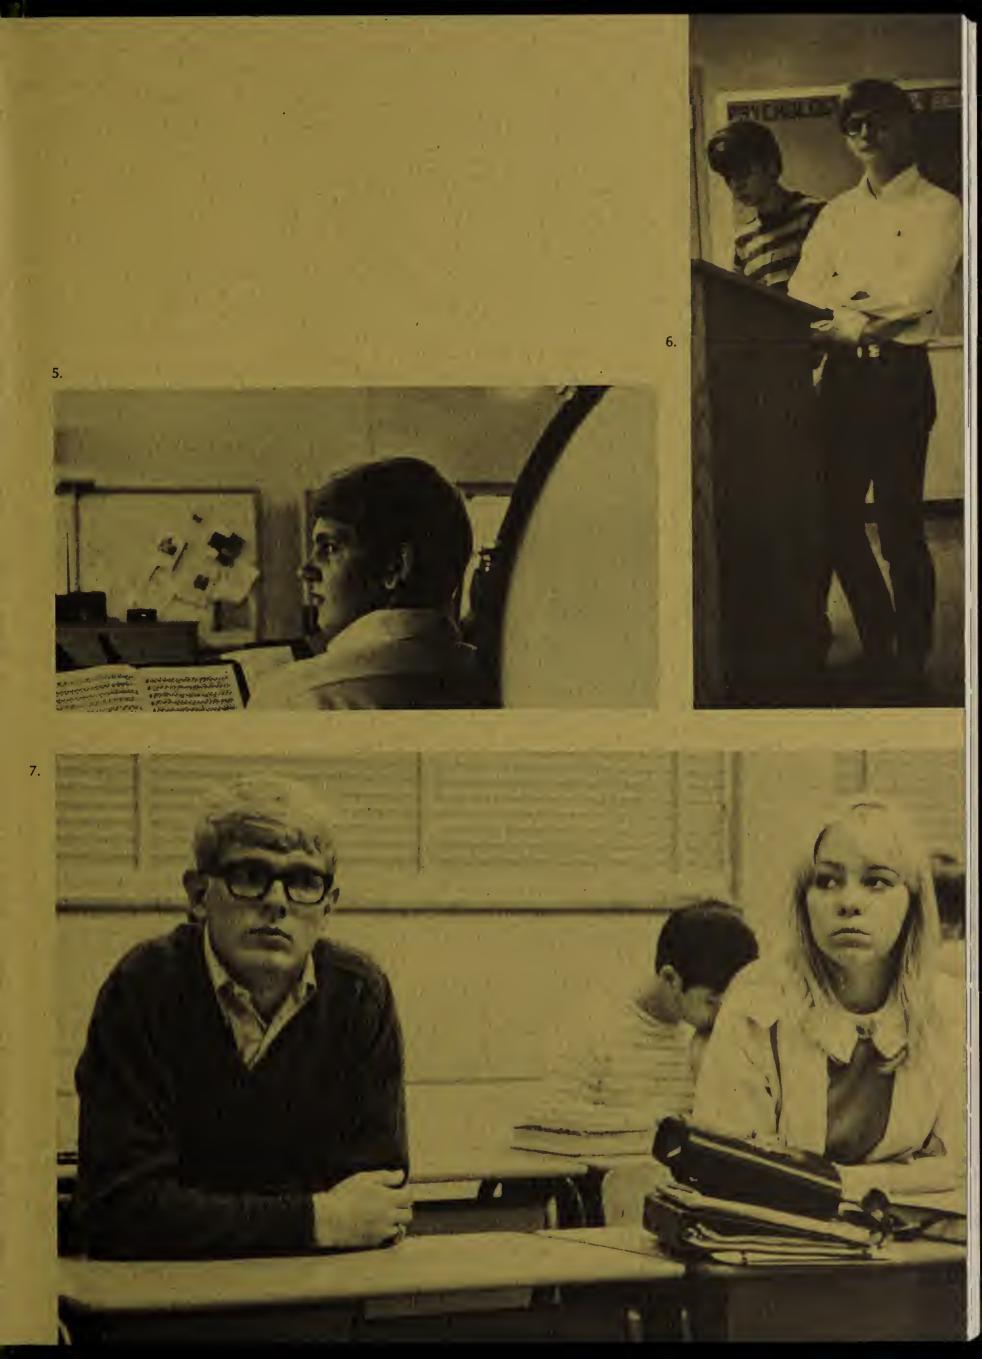

1) Terry Tate plans for the future.
2) Scott Fortney buys a yearbook after seeing the sneak previews at a CHARLEMO assembly. 3) Iris Hollrah decides she is not ready for the responsibility of a teacher yet. 4) Debbie Kent models the new look—long hair. 5) Steve Stipes furthers his knowledge of music. 6) Steve Cearley and Kurt Hammes present their views on the dress code to Student Council. 7) Tom Schaberg and Jayne Ermeling meditate after class is over.

This generation is thoughtful, involved

If there be one flaw in man's nature against which this generation campaigns, it is apathy. Being involved has become our "bag". Active members of organizations participate in club activities. Student Council members serve as the students' elected governmental body. Concerned faculty members offer help and advice, and every student shows his concern when he applies himself to his studies or tries to maintain the excellent reputation of our student body.

1) Pat Ruff waits for a ride and reflects on her day at SCHS. 2) Gunther Emlein, delivering a speech at the fall sports assembly, represents SCHS's involvement in world affairs. 3) Ida Carionon and Nancy Bauman work together on assignments after a large-group testing session. 4) Richard Ford concentrates on the action on the field as he watches a football game from the press box. 5) Student Council members listen intently to speaker who holds the floor at council meeting. 6) Reid Bronson glances through a magazine while working on posters for FTA.

We have energy to spare

This generation, with all its ideas and hopes to change our world, would wallow in uselessness without energy. Energy flows freely from this generation. Combined with hope, it creates an undefeatable characteristic of man that shows itself most boldly during our youth. Channeled into constructive endeavor, it makes reality out of unreal goals.

1) Bob Davis and Dave Davis yell, "SENIORS" at one of the three publications assemblies in September. 2) Mike Clark, Jim Lloyd, Ken Tipton, Bennie Myers, Paul Bekebrede, and Rick Adams work on ROTC's entry in the Homecoming float contest. 3) Janita Tevis executes a not quite perfect somersault at the homecoming pep rally. 4) B-team cheerleader Kathy Thoelke exhibits her cheering talents at the fall sports assembly. 5) Juniors give seniors on the other end of the rope a workout as they pull on to victory. 6) Determination shows in Scott Moore's face as he pushes on at a cross country meet.

We spend hours in concentrated study

No changes in our world can be made without a knowledge of the problems involved and the methods available to correct them. This knowledge comes to us through our teachers. Our generation seems to have a tremendous appetite for this knowledge. Whether this is because we want knowledge for the sake of knowledge or for practical purposes, we still spend more and more time in study.

1) John Breeden learns how to handle a skillet in the new boys' food service class.

2) John Thompson goes through a routine form-filling ceremony. 3) Mrs. Veita Jo Hampton talks to Randy Ferber about year-book problems while Roger McCoy works on physics problem in physics class. 4) Mike Benson types as he listens to tape adjusted to suit his needs in Business Education class. 5) Mike Neihoff concentrates on test question, an experience we all go through. 6) John Breedon contributes to panel discussion in ROTC.

Rubber forms the soul

This may be the Age of Aquarius to some, but it is the age of mobility to all. Cars have become an integral part of almost everybody's life, especially the teenager's. We have been raised with cars and have come to regard them as a materialization of one's personality.

of SCHS mobility

1) Peggy Reiser jumps on bus after long day of classes. 2) Bill Stuckenschneider rolls away from school in his Mustang. 3) Mark Grimmer climbs out of his car for another day of school. 4) Mike Peyton sneers at pedestrians. 5) Cycles in front of boy's gym reflect sunlight and the age of mobility. 6) Jim Droste, Mark Silverberg, and Tom Walker listen to state troopers at TASC's motorcycle safety course. 7) Mag wheels emphasize the spirit of competition.

We all find time to "do our own thing"

Amidst final exams, club meetings, and seventh hours, we all find time or make time to relieve pressure. "Our own thing" is the result.

Representatives work for a better school

An active student council, responsive to the needs and wants of its student body, maintains the balance of power between students and administration. SCHS's student council demonstrated its activity by planning the Homecoming and Sweetheart dances, conducting all school elections, and selling popcorn at home football and basketball games.

The council's involvement is shown in its persistent attempts to find a fair and practical solution to the dress code problem.

Council members had to sacrifice time and effort and often personal wants to serve their student body.

The junior class is responsible for the planning of the junior-senior prom.

'69 soaked in sobs and rain

Homecoming 1969 was a soggy celebration—in more ways than one. The weekend began with the annual parade on Friday, October 10, and continued that night with a super pep rally. Contestants in various events shaved balloons, ate oranges, did somersaults and ran relays. During halftime of the homecoming game on Saturday, Queen Linda Crayne, tears rolling down her cheeks, was crowned just as the rain began to fall. St. Charles and Pattonville Pirates alike were soaked, but SC spirit was dampened in the end as our Pirates bowed to Pattonville, 12—0.

The queen and her court danced a special dance to the theme song from "Romeo and Juliet". Students tore down huge posters representing the signs of the zodiac for souvenirs. Art students designed the posters especially for the dance.

Mrs. Gibbs, Kathy Sommerville, advises Mr. Gibbs, Dan Bruns to stop working so hard and take a rest.

"Our Town" by Thornton Wilder was presented to St. Charles as the fall drama for 1969. The people of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire and their lives were depicted well without the use of much scenery. Characters were: Stage Manager, Larry Ruebling, Dr. Gibbs, Dan Bruns, Mrs. Gibbs, Kathy Sommerville, Mrs. Webb, Jackie Crane, George Gibbs, Ken Wren, Rebecca Gibbs, Shelly Evans, Professor Willard, Beat Eberle, Emily Webb, Beth Holden, Mr. Webb, Reid Bronson, and Simon Stimson, Scott Kester.

Mary Ellen and Timmy Sommerville had short parts in dramatic production.

Foreign Relations Club and SCHS honored our two foreign students, Beat Eberle from Solothurn, Switzerland and Guenther Emlein from Lahr, Germany at the annual foreign Relations Dance Saturday, December 13, 1969. The name of this year's dance was Fasnacht. Fasnacht is a carnival held in Scandinavia resembling our Mardi Gras.

Various clubs had booths. Those clubs participating were: SC Club, Foreign Relations Club, German Club, French Club, Student Council, Spanish Club and Publications.

The "Elastic Cobweb" provided rock music in one half of the boys' gym. During a band break, Beat and Guenther entertained with German folk songs.

Proceeds from these dances go toward financing foreign exchange students.

Mardi Gras was the theme of the 1970 Sweetheart Dance held in the boys' gym on February 14, Valentine's Day. The St. Charles Lettermen's Club chose as their queen, senior, Diane Stephenson. The members of her court were seniors Judy Boschert and Wendi Stiers and juniors Laura Amelung, Pam Ault, and Judy Moore.

The colorful Mardi Gras decorations added extra beauty to the Valentine evening. The "Penrose", a rock group from the St. Louis Area provided the music for the evening.

The junior attendants were: Laura Amelung, Pam Ault, and Judy Moore.

'Life with Father' first spring activity

Father's bellowing scares the wits out of Annie (Shirley Bunch).

"Life With Father" is the story of the Day Family, a typical well-to-do family in the early 1900's. In the days when father ruled the roost, the most important problems were that of trying to keep out the unwelcome relatives, and trying to "engage a maid who knows how to serve properly!" Father's dominating personality, Mother's questionable logic, and four children made this play the comedy hit of the season.

The main characters were: Father (Reid Bronson), Mother (Roberta Mahr), and the four children; Clarence (Bill Simmons), John (Bruce Regot), Whitney (Pat Kiernan), and Harlan (Kevin Kiernan).

John shows Clarence a bottle of Bartlett's Beneficent Balm with which the boys nearly poison their mother.

Father lets Dr. Humphreys (Scott Kester) know exactly what he thinks about doctors.

The Day children: Whitney (Pat Kiernan), John (Bruce Regot), Clarence (Bill Simmons), and Harlan (Kevin Kiernan).

The Day family poses for a family portrait.

Whitney recites his catechism to Rev. Dr. Lloyd. (Phil Hornbostel)

Day family employees: Nora (Becky Williams), Annie, Margaret (Jackie Akers), Maggie (Linda Williams) and Delia (Paula Lohrman).

Mary (Jerri Graves), smiles thoughtfully.

Pirates shine in Normandy Tournament

The '69-'70 varsity basketball season was one of ups and downs for Coach Gary Wacker and his team. With only two returning lettermen, team spirit had to overcome their lack of experience.

In the newly initiated St. Charles Tournament the Pirates placed third out of four schools. Just two games later, however, the team upset Mc-Bride and Mercy in the Normandy Christmas Tournament, came out with third place, and earned the nickname of "the Cinderella team."

Although the 1969-70 SCHS sports season was not a perfect one, several highlights will remain in the minds of the athletes and the fans. In football senior Dan Barklage was named to the first team all-conference. In cross country junior Dennis Rodak came in thirty-first in the state meet. In the first year of the swimming team at SCHS team opponents were suprised to see the Bucs walk away with three first places in the first Berkeley meet. In wrestling senior Mike Clark went to the Regional Tournament and in basket-ball the Pirates were unseeded but took third in the Normandy Tournament.

Concerned people made the year 1969-70 the year of involvement at SCHS. They are the ones who thought, planned, worked, and created a worthwhile educational experience. And they are the ones who can now look back on this year with pride.
